TRINIDAD STATE CONTINUING & COMMUNITY EDUCATION

Colorado First and Existing Industry Training Mini Grants for Small Business

Skill Advance Colorado is piloting Colorado First and Existing mini grants to serve the training needs of small businesses with 25 or fewer employees. Mini grants are intended to offer equitable and manageable grants for businesses with a small number of employees and limited management capacity; and provide opportunities for small business to access quality training to upskill their employees, increase employee opportunity and retention, and remain competitive with larger Colorado companies. There is a 10% or 40% company match depending on the company type. Grant applications may include training provided by the college, college contractors, qualified grantee employees; and, on a case-by-case basis, qualified third-party training vendors.

SMALL SCALE MANUFACTURING

According to strongtowns.org small scale manufacturing businesses create a tangible product - in any material - that can be replicated or packaged. The business can be all about technology (for example a supply chain businesses that uses 3D printers to supply parts to the Department of Defense) or can be artisan (for example a consumer-facing business that handcrafts leather handbags). It can be food-based or material based (like all natural lotions). Small-scale manufacturing businesses help create thriving places, with business ownership opportunities and good-paying jobs that other business types cannot fulfill. They are hidden gems in the economic development strategy and downtown reinvestment efforts of every place.

If you aspire to start your own manufacturing business, but don't have the funds to purchase the equipment you need, contact us to see if we have what you need to get your business started until you can afford to purchase your own. A complete list of equipment currently available can be viewed at trinidadstate.edu/collaboratory/pdf/equipment_01.pdf. Or, give us a call at 719-846-5724 and we would be happy to give you a tour of the space.

Math Refresher

$129

New classes start June 15, July 17 or August 14
 (completely online)

This course will show you how to use math to your advantage. The lessons that make up this course are filled with practical exercises and information that you can put to immediate use. You will discover how best to get a handle on your income and expenses. You will be able to check your paystub, invoices, and bank statements for errors and overcharges and become more skilled at handling money and comparing investment opportunities. You will find out how to calculate interest rates and you will develop a better understanding of mortgages, credit cards, and other types of loans. You will discover a handy method for converting one type of measurement to another. You will become adept at interpreting graphs, calculating the probability that something will (or won't) happen, and understanding the statistics embedded in test results, polls, and even news stories.
