DID YOU KNOW.....

Emergent Campus Trinidad provides a proven model for job placement and economic growth, positioning the city as an innovation hub where new employers, drawn by lower costs, create pathways for students into high-wage industries—fueling the next wave of rural-connected startups and businesses.

Trinidad State College has responded to business recruitment for Emergent Campus by adding programs and promoting internship opportunities for students.

New programs include

- Robotics & Automation Systems Technology
- Computer-Aided Design
- Computer Information Systems

These technical skills aren't just used in the technical world. They can also be used in professions such as machining, welding/fabricating, HVAC, plumbing, and electrical - even some jewelry and fashion designers use CAD.

EXPLORE the possibilities at Trinidad State College!
Whether you're preparing for a career, planning to transfer, or discovering your passion, your future starts here.

New Registration System for Non-credit workshops

Trinidad State is in the process of moving our non-credit courses and workshops to a new system. This will include our traditional non-credit classes, workforce courses, and courses offered through the Heritage School and the Makerspace. We will be adding classes to the new page as they are added to our schedule. In some cases you will be able to create an account and register yourself for a class. In other cases, you may still create an account, but will need to call Donna to register.

Please contact Donna to obtain your existing student ID number before creating an account so duplicate student numbers are not generated.

If you have questions, please contact Donna at donna.haddow@trinidadstate.edu.

The new page can be accessed here or at www.campusce.net/trinidadstate/category/category.aspx

Our online course offerings through The CEShop, Ed2Go, MindEdge, and UGotClass are still available on our original continuing education webpage located at this link or at trinidadstate.edu/continuing-education
